Section 1: Practice Questions

Question 1 — [FLK1 / Business Law and Practice]

Prior to the formal incorporation of Alpha Trading Ltd, a promoter (Julia) signed a contract 'on behalf of the company' to purchase machinery from a supplier. The company is now incorporated. Which of the following best describes the liability of Julia and the company on this pre-incorporation contract?

- A: The company is automatically bound by the contract upon incorporation, and the promoter is released.
- B: The contract is completely void and unenforceable by any party.
- C: The promoter is personally liable and entitled under the contract, subject to any agreement to the contrary, under Section 51 of the Companies Act 2006.
- D: The company and the promoter are jointly and severally liable automatically.
- E: The company can unilaterally ratify the contract without the supplier's agreement.

Question 2 — [FLK1 / Tort Law]

An employee of Titan Infrastructure plc negligently injures a customer (Philip) while driving a company delivery van to make a scheduled delivery. The customer sues Titan Infrastructure plc. What is the legal doctrine that allows the employer to be held liable, and what is the test?

- A: Res Ipsa Loquitur; requires showing the van was in a defective condition.
- B: Vicarious liability; requires showing that the employee committed a tort in the course of their employment.
- C: Strict liability; requires showing the employer acted with malicious intent.
- D: Privity of liability; requires a signed agreement between the employer and the customer.
- E: Contributory liability; requires allocating the claim to the Multi-Track.

Question 3 — [FLK1 / Contract Law]

Victoria offered to sell a office building to Quinn for £1,500. Quinn replied: 'I accept your offer, but I will pay £1,350.' Victoria did not respond. Two days later, Quinn wrote to Victoria saying: 'I accept your original offer of £1,500.' Is there a binding contract between Victoria and Quinn?

- A: Yes, because the second letter constituted a valid acceptance of the original offer.
- B: Yes, because the original offer remained open and had not been revoked by the offeror.
- C: No, because the counter-offer of the lower price killed the original offer, meaning it could no longer be accepted.
- D: No, because a contract for sale of goods must be made in writing signed by both parties.
- E: Yes, because the offeror's silence on the counter-offer constituted acceptance of the lower price.

Question 4 — [FLK1 / Contract Law]

A shopkeeper (Diana) places a designer coat in the shop window with a price tag of £75,000. A customer (Frank) enters the shop, places the cash on the counter, and demands to buy the item. The shopkeeper refuses to sell it. Is there a binding contract?

- A: Yes, because placing the item in the window was a unilateral offer that was accepted by the customer's cash payment.
- B: No, because the display of goods in a shop window is an invitation to treat, not an offer. Refusing to sell does not breach any contract (Fisher v Bell).
- C: Yes, because consumer protection laws force retailers to sell all displayed items automatically.
- D: No, because contracts for sales in shops require a written signed document.
- E: Yes, because the shopkeeper was silent when the customer entered, constituting acceptance.

Question 5 — [FLK1 / Business Law and Practice]

Prior to the formal incorporation of Crown Estates Ltd, a promoter (Nora) signed a contract 'on behalf of the company' to purchase machinery from a supplier. The company is now incorporated. Which of the following best describes the liability of Nora and the company on this pre-incorporation contract?

- A: The company is automatically bound by the contract upon incorporation, and the promoter is released.
- B: The contract is completely void and unenforceable by any party.
- C: The promoter is personally liable and entitled under the contract, subject to any agreement to the contrary, under Section 51 of the Companies Act 2006.
- D: The company and the promoter are jointly and severally liable automatically.
- E: The company can unilaterally ratify the contract without the supplier's agreement.

Question 6 — [FLK1 / Dispute Resolution]

A claimant (Edward) has brought an action against a defendant (David) in the County Court for breach of contract, claiming £220,000 in damages. The defendant has filed a defense. In accordance with the Civil Procedure Rules (CPR), which track will this claim be allocated to?

- A: Small Claims Track
- B: Fast Track
- C: Intermediate Track
- D: Multi-Track
- E: Commercial Court Track

Question 7 — [FLK1 / Tort Law]

A driver (Beatrice) crashes into a pedestrian (Julia) who is crossing the street, causing physical injuries. To establish negligence, the claimant must show that the defendant owed them a duty of care. How does the court establish if a duty of care exists for physical damage caused by positive actions?

- A: By applying the three-stage Caparo test including fair, just, and reasonable criteria in every case.
- B: By finding that the case falls within an established duty category (such as road users to other road users) where a duty is automatically owed (Robinson v Chief Constable of West Yorkshire).
- C: By checking if the defendant signed a voluntary duty registration form.
- D: By proving the defendant intended to cause physical harm.
- E: By allocating the claim to the Fast Track under CPR guidelines.

Question 8 — [FLK1 / Contract Law]

A builder (William) contractually agreed to construct a wall for a customer (Nora) for £5,000. Halfway through the job, the builder states they cannot finish unless the customer pays an extra £1,000. The customer agrees. After completion, the customer refuses to pay the extra £1,000. Under Williams v Roffey Bros, is the promise to pay the extra £1,000 binding?

- A: No, because performing an existing contractual duty can never be good consideration.
- B: Yes, if the customer obtained a practical benefit (such as avoiding a penalty clause to a third party) and there was no economic duress.
- C: No, because a promise to pay more must be approved by the County Court under CPR regulations.
- D: Yes, because oral contracts are automatically binding regardless of consideration.
- E: No, because it violates Section 52 of the Law of Property Act 1925.

Question 9 — [FLK1 / Tort Law]

A claimant was injured when a defendant (Mila), who was engaged in delivering expired pharmaceuticals, caused an accident. The defendant admits they owed the claimant a duty of care and breached it, but argues that the claimant's own negligence contributed to the injury. Under the Law Reform (Contributory Negligence) Act 1945, what is the legal effect of contributory negligence?

- A: It acts as a complete defense, and the claimant receives no damages.
- B: It reduces the claimant's damages to the extent that is just and equitable, reflecting the claimant's share of responsibility.
- C: It has no effect on damages but requires the claimant to pay the defendant's legal costs.
- D: It shifts the burden of proof to the claimant to show that they took all reasonable precautions.
- E: It renders the claim null and void, requiring allocation to criminal arbitration.

Question 10 — [FLK1 / Contract Law]

A builder (Rose) contractually agreed to construct a wall for a customer (Zachary) for £5,000. Halfway through the job, the builder states they cannot finish unless the customer pays an extra £1,000. The customer agrees. After completion, the customer refuses to pay the extra £1,000. Under Williams v Roffey Bros, is the promise to pay the extra £1,000 binding?

- A: No, because performing an existing contractual duty can never be good consideration.
- B: Yes, if the customer obtained a practical benefit (such as avoiding a penalty clause to a third party) and there was no economic duress.
- C: No, because a promise to pay more must be approved by the County Court under CPR regulations.
- D: Yes, because oral contracts are automatically binding regardless of consideration.
- E: No, because it violates Section 52 of the Law of Property Act 1925.

Question 11 — [FLK1 / Dispute Resolution]

A claimant (Nora) makes a valid CPR Part 36 settlement offer to the defendant (Georgia) of £5,000. The defendant rejects the offer. The case goes to trial, and the claimant wins, obtaining judgment of £5,750. What is the primary costs consequence under Part 36?

- A: The claimant must pay the defendant's costs on the indemnity basis.
- B: The defendant must pay the claimant's costs on the indemnity basis, plus interest on those costs, from the expiry of the relevant offer period.
- C: The court will split the trial costs equally between both parties.
- D: All costs recovery is capped at the Small Claims Track limit.
- E: The defendant is immune to costs penalties because they defended the claim in good faith.

Question 12 — [FLK1 / Dispute Resolution]

A claimant (Ian) has applied for summary judgment against a defendant (Ryan) under CPR Part 24. What is the test that the court must apply to determine whether summary judgment should be granted?

- A: The claimant must prove the case beyond all reasonable doubt.
- B: The defendant has no real prospect of successfully defending the claim, and there is no other compelling reason why the case should be disposed of at trial.
- C: The value of the claim must be less than £10,000.
- D: The defendant has failed to acknowledge service of the claim form within 14 days.
- E: The dispute involves questions of international law.

Question 13 — [FLK1 / Contract Law]

A shopkeeper (Laura) places a vintage watch in the shop window with a price tag of £22,000. A customer (James) enters the shop, places the cash on the counter, and demands to buy the item. The shopkeeper refuses to sell it. Is there a binding contract?

- A: Yes, because placing the item in the window was a unilateral offer that was accepted by the customer's cash payment.
- B: No, because the display of goods in a shop window is an invitation to treat, not an offer. Refusing to sell does not breach any contract (Fisher v Bell).
- C: Yes, because consumer protection laws force retailers to sell all displayed items automatically.
- D: No, because contracts for sales in shops require a written signed document.
- E: Yes, because the shopkeeper was silent when the customer entered, constituting acceptance.

Question 14 — [FLK1 / Contract Law]

Isabella offered to sell a printing press to Fredrick for £1,500. Fredrick replied: 'I accept your offer, but I will pay £1,350.' Isabella did not respond. Two days later, Fredrick wrote to Isabella saying: 'I accept your original offer of £1,500.' Is there a binding contract between Isabella and Fredrick?

- A: Yes, because the second letter constituted a valid acceptance of the original offer.
- B: Yes, because the original offer remained open and had not been revoked by the offeror.
- C: No, because the counter-offer of the lower price killed the original offer, meaning it could no longer be accepted.
- D: No, because a contract for sale of goods must be made in writing signed by both parties.
- E: Yes, because the offeror's silence on the counter-offer constituted acceptance of the lower price.

Question 15 — [FLK1 / Dispute Resolution]

A claimant (George) makes a valid CPR Part 36 settlement offer to the defendant (Julia) of £9,500. The defendant rejects the offer. The case goes to trial, and the claimant wins, obtaining judgment of £10,925. What is the primary costs consequence under Part 36?

- A: The claimant must pay the defendant's costs on the indemnity basis.
- B: The defendant must pay the claimant's costs on the indemnity basis, plus interest on those costs, from the expiry of the relevant offer period.
- C: The court will split the trial costs equally between both parties.
- D: All costs recovery is capped at the Small Claims Track limit.
- E: The defendant is immune to costs penalties because they defended the claim in good faith.

Question 16 — [FLK1 / Contract Law]

Katelyn offered to sell a sports car to Julia for £45,000. Julia replied: 'I accept your offer, but I will pay £40,500.' Katelyn did not respond. Two days later, Julia wrote to Katelyn saying: 'I accept your original offer of £45,000.' Is there a binding contract between Katelyn and Julia?

- A: Yes, because the second letter constituted a valid acceptance of the original offer.
- B: Yes, because the original offer remained open and had not been revoked by the offeror.
- C: No, because the counter-offer of the lower price killed the original offer, meaning it could no longer be accepted.
- D: No, because a contract for sale of goods must be made in writing signed by both parties.
- E: Yes, because the offeror's silence on the counter-offer constituted acceptance of the lower price.

Question 17 — [FLK1 / Dispute Resolution]

A claimant (Edward) has applied for summary judgment against a defendant (Samuel) under CPR Part 24. What is the test that the court must apply to determine whether summary judgment should be granted?
